

JAMESTOWN ARRIVES

NEW STEAMER OF NORFOLK AND WASHINGTON LINE.

Daylight Trip From Newport News—
Complimentary Run to Be Made
Next Saturday.

The new steamer Jamestown, the latest addition to the fleet of the Norfolk and Washington Steamship Company, arrived in this city last evening shortly after 6 o'clock and tied up at her pier adjoining the ferry wharf. There she will remain until next Saturday, when she will take a large number of invited guests for a sail of about forty miles down the river.

The Jamestown departed from Old Point yesterday morning at 7:55 o'clock, and the party from this city and Newport News, guests of the Norfolk and Washington Steamship Company and of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, had a pleasant run up the bay and river. The party from this city, which made the down trip on the steamer Norfolk Tuesday night, went aboard the Jamestown at Old Point. On the steamer the guests were entertained by the shipbuilders and the Norfolk and Washington Steamship Company.

Returning from Old Point to Washington was made in ten and a quarter hours, an average speed of more than eighteen miles an hour. As the steamer moved away from the wharves she was given a salute by the whistles of all the steamers in the vicinity, and coming up the bay and river she was saluted by every craft that met her—schooners, steam pile drivers, dredging machines—all joined in the greeting. As she passed Alexandria the wharves there were lined with people looking for the steamer, and the whistles of all the factories along the river front were sounded in salute.

Welcomed by Whistles.

Entering Washington harbor the Jamestown was welcomed by the whistles of all the steam craft, and crowds lined the wharves and along the street in front of her pier to get a glimpse of the new boat.

Aboard the steamer making the trip were Mr. C. F. Norment and wife, Miss Judith Norment, Master Norment, Mr. J. E. Callahan and wife, Mr. William H. Callahan and wife, Miss Dorothy Callahan, George Pearson and wife, D. J. Callahan, W. B. Odell, S. Smith, Harry Norment, W. B. Hottel and Will F. Carney and wife of this city, Mr. J. R. Sherwood, vice president of the Old Point Line of Baltimore, Mr. Sherwood, Ruben Foster, president of the Chesapeake line, and Mrs. Foster of Baltimore, George Usher, Inspector general of the United States Customs at Baltimore, Mr. Usher, U. S. Steamboat Inspectors Ira Harris of New York, Capt. Westcott of Chicago, and John East of Norfolk; Col. W. A. Post and wife and Mr. Ferguson of the Newport News Shipbuilding Company, Judge Barton Parker, John W. Perkins, Robert W. Dowe, J. Reynier and others of Newport News.

On the trip up Capt. E. Bailey Reed was in command of the steamer, with Capt. Melvin looking after the interests of the builders. Chief Engineers John Trower and E. P. Bell were in charge of the engine room, and Mr. J. D. Harrington was the purser.

The steamer is beautifully decorated throughout, each of the ten staterooms or parlors being finished in a different tint. The hurricane deck, like the two lower decks, runs to the forward flagstaff, giving her the largest, most open deck of any steamer on the river. On the three will be dining. The steamer is electric lighted and is equipped with steam steering gear, and is modern in all her equipment. She is absolutely fireproof, except for doors to the rooms no wood is used in her construction, and there is nothing to burn aboard her. She is the first passenger steamer ever built in which nothing but iron was used in construction.

Four Water-Tight Compartments.

In addition to being safe from fire, this steamer also has four large water-tight compartments, so that it is said it will be absolutely impossible to sink her unless two of these compartments should be broken in a collision. She is entirely free from vibration, and on her trial trip when she was taken out of the capes into the Atlantic ocean with a considerable sea on and a heavy northeast wind blowing she did not careen more than one degree when put broadside to the sea.

On her trip up the new steamer made an average speed of 19.6 miles an hour.

INQUIRY NOT CLOSED

GOVERNMENT INVESTIGATION OF ALLEGED ICE COMBINE.

Conditions in the City Unchanged—
No Advance in Price Since
Early in June.

The investigation which the government recently commenced into the status of the ice trade in this city is still being conducted, but as yet without definite result. At the office of the United States attorney it was stated this morning that the matter had not taken form sufficiently to determine what action would follow. When the examination of dealers and others summoned is concluded the result will be communicated, it is stated, to the Attorney General, who will pass upon the question of making any presentation to the grand jury on the developments of the inquiry.

Since the investigation was started a large number of retail dealers and a few persons representing wholesale firms have been examined by Assistant United States Attorney Jesse Adkins, who is in charge of the matter. The witnesses were summoned by subpoena.

Regarding Alleged Ice Trust.

The questions they were asked were directed toward bringing out information as to whether or not an ice trust exists in this city. The increase in prices, as shown by the examination, is understood to be one of the main facts established. Whether this results from a scarcity of ice, or whether it is the outgrowth of a combination and of wholesale dealers, it is understood is still to be determined.

No Change in Situation.

There has been no change in the ice situation in the city during the past four or five days, and the officials of the local ice companies are still hopeful for the future. There has been no advance since the raise in price early in the month, though there is a strong opinion among the dealers about the city that another advance will be made within the next few weeks, possibly about July 1. At the office of the American Ice Company it was stated that the company is yet able to meet all demands for ice and ice delivered as fast as it is received. At the Home Ice Company headquarters a Star reporter was told that the company is able to fill all orders from the output of its factory, and is not drawing on its reserve supply. When asked if it is proposed to bring any more vessels here with ice cargoes, the company's good thought not, as $5 per ton was being asked for ice a month ago in Maine, when he received the last advice. The price last season was less than $1 per ton. The comparatively cool weather of the past day or two is keeping the demand down and doing much toward preventing the exhaustion of the ice supply in the city.

Funeral of Col. Lester.

The funeral of Rufus E. Lester, late representative in Congress, took place yesterday afternoon at Savannah, Ga., from St. John's Episcopal Church, Rev. Charles H. Strong conducting the service there and at the grave in Bonaventure cemetery, where the body was laid to rest, the Confederate Veterans' Association of that city being among the large concourse in attendance, and the bugler of the organization sounding " taps," the soldier's good night, upon the close of the religious and Masonic ceremonies.

The senators and representatives who attended the funeral left last night for Washington.

WAS DUE TO ACCIDENT

CORONER'S CERTIFICATE IN CASE OF CLARENCE YORK.

Mrs. York, wife of Clarence M. York, the man who was found dead in the grounds at Garfield Hospital at an early hour yesterday morning, as stated in yesterday's Star, reached here from Atlantic City yesterday afternoon in response to a telephone message. She was completely distraught, and was taken to her apartment at the Logan. Acting Coroner Giambrook made an investigation of the circumstances attending the affair, and gave a certificate showing that death was due to an accident.

Dr. Frank Leech, who had attended Mr. York, was consulted, and the acting coroner also questioned others in order to ascertain as much as he could about the circumstances which led up to the time when the sick man left the hospital window. He was told that Mr. York had suffered several attacks of Bright's disease, and that he had been delirious each time. The conclusion was reached that while in the hospital the patient suffered an attack of the disease, became unconscious and was not aware what he was doing when he went out the window.
